“ I have such fond and loving memories of Fay hosting the Harris family Hanukkah parties when the kids were all so little. Even as she was a Christian she still made sure the kids knew about Grandpa Nate's (her father) heritage and made sure all the children understood the meaning of lighting the menorah. Laura and I still light the menorah each year. And she made the best latkes! How she managed keep smiling and stay calm as more than a dozen of our lil rugrats ran around being crazy and having a blast in her home, still amazes me. She will never be forgotten.

“ God has truly gained an angel. A loving, caring, thoughtful, stubborn (in a good way) angel. She is the true definition of a Heart-mom. It was what her and her girls referred to themselves, Heart-mom and daughters. She loves these girls more than I could explain. I had never not seen her be there for them. She was always there for them, no matter what, and in turn, she's always been there for me too. It's just who she is. Her love for others is part of what defines her.

When I first met Fay, I was a young man, nearly a boy, that was infatuated with her daughter. We started dating. Naturally, we butted heads quite a few times. I loved her daughter, and as a result, she hated me. Or so I thought. Years later, after Michelle and I were married we spoke sporadically at lengths about family, and she explained to me that the truth was, that she never hated me at all. The truth, is that she saw the way I looked at her daughter and knew one day I'd eventually take her away, to be my wife. She knew that. She said her job was to make sure I was genuine, and that I understood that she was worth it. Both of those were true.

I remember one long drive in her old van, to another family members wedding, getting into a constant argument as we were both as stubborn as we could be. I remember driving her several times after that, when I could, to places she needed to go, or to and from family events. We almost always argued on those trips. It was our nature lol. We had one more drive planned together, for her daughters wedding, and right now all I can wish is that we still have that drive, and could still have that argument, and still laugh after we get there.

I'll miss the care packages for the boys, the letters for us, the Skype calls, the all hours Facebook messages when she just wants to say I love you guys, and I'll miss her answering the phone on the other end with "Hi Sweetie" whenever she'd call Michelle. I look forward to hearing her say it again, and the next time in person. Thank you Fay, for the impact you've had on my life, the beautiful women you've given me as my wife, and thank you for helping me grow in my relationship with God, and now that your closer to him, I know you're smiling, dancing, and painting everyday. I know you'll be watching your grandbabies grow, helping them when they stumble, quietly comforting them when they're sad, and I promise we'll never let them forget just how special their Grandma Fay is. Until we meet again.... and this time, you can drive.

Love, Chris

“ I am a Minister of Jehovah's Witnesses my wife and I would like to give you and your family our deepest sympathy for the lost of your loved one. We would like to leave you with these words of encouragement from Gods word the Bible. At Job 14:14 it ask the question, "If a man dies, shall he live again?," The bible makes the promise: Your dead love ones will live...They will rise up. The bible also says, The righteous themselves will possess the earth and they will reside forever upon it. Isaiah 26:19;Psalms 37:29. May you find comfort in these scriptures and in the loving memories of your loved one. If you have any questions or concerns about the lost of your loved one feel free to email us at ctksdk@yahoo.com

Sincerely, Carlos & Sandy
