

Betty B Remington

September 24, 1932 - August 4, 2009

Betty B. Remington passed away on Tuesday August 4, 2009 at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, Michigan of complications associated with cancer. She is survived by her son and daughter-in-law, Mike & Mie Remington of Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, and her daughter and son-in-law, Sandy and Allan Aubert of Plymouth, Michigan. She also has four grand children and two great-grandchildren. Betty was the loving wife of Richard D. Remington, former University of Michigan Professor and Dean of the U of M School of Public Health, and former Vice President of Academic Affairs of University of Iowa. Betty Brooks Morrison was born in St Ignatius, Montana in 1932. She attended High School in Missoula, Montana and later attended Montana State, now University of Montana. Betty and Dick Remington, high school sweethearts, were married in 1952. Dick was a jazz tuba player for jazz bands in Ann Arbor (The Boll Weevils) and San Antonio (Alamo City Jazz Band). Betty loved traveling with Dick's bands. Over the years, Betty served as a volunteer with Ronald McDonald House, Visiting Nurses Association and University of Iowa Hospital. Betty was a great mother and made close friends quickly wherever she lived. She was known for opening her home and for her warmth and kindness toward those in need. She will be deeply missed. There will be a reception for friends and family to honor Betty on Saturday Aug 8 from 4 - 7pm at the Firefly Jazz Club in Ann Arbor, 637 South Main Street. The family requests that donations in lieu of flowers be given to the Remington Oncology Nursing Fund at the University of Iowa, or the Richard & Betty Remington Scholarship Fund through the University of Michigan School of Public Health.
