“ I can just remember it like yesterday I talked to you, but now that your gone I walk by your side and I miss you, if only I could hug you one last time I would make it count, now I am older I appreciate you more and I miss you the more I think about you, sometimes I stare at your photo, and just remember the memories we had and they will never be erased from my mind, and when I have my singing dream come true I will think of you, I love you nonna you are the greatest grandma I could ever ask for in a lifetime ~emm
