“ Brit and I were best friends, all of middle school and into high school. We lost contact after school, but I am absolutely devastated to hear about her passing and I send my thoughts and prayers to her family. I will always remember her contagious laugh and she always was the light in the room. We had so many first together, I remember going to the warped tour and to her cousins venue to see default and hinder. I will hold tight to the endless memories and laughter we shared. I found a few pictures from us back in the day I wanted to share.

“ My best friend of over 20 years is gone; we had known each other since 4th grade. The first thought that came to my mind when I heard that you were gone is "My life is different now" because from the moment I met you, I wanted you in my life forever and could never imagine life without you.

I keep looking in for signs and keep staring off into space for minutes at a time without realizing that any time has passed. Grief is coming over me in waves. I want to cry with you, yell at you, blame myself and deny that your death is real all at the same time.

We grew up together and were just starting to grow old together like we had always talked about. The connection we shared is something that can never be replaced and I'll live with this hole in my heart forever. We spent so much time together and you are a large part of who I am.

We had plans to see each other today. I had so many things that I wanted to tell you and that's hard to think about. I wish I could change this. I miss you. I love you dude.

“ Brittany was one of my best friends in childhood. There's not a lot that I can think of from the elementary years and not think of her. We had so much fun together. Mr. and Mrs. Wills (sorry, old habits), I can't imagine what you're feeling. I'm praying for peace as you and your family mourn. Thank you for always being so welcoming to me and for raising the girl that made my childhood so memorable. I'm so sorry for your immense loss. Your whole family is being prayed for through the grief. -Leslie (Rose)

“ Brittany, every time we caught up as old friends, you were always laughing and put me in a positive mood. I can’t believe we’ve known each other for 20 years, it seems like just yesterday we were kids. I hope you have found eternal peace and serenity, and I know heaven just got a little bit brighter with your smile. I told my Dad to keep an eye out for you, he always wanted a daughter and I couldn’t think of someone better. RIP Britt ❤️
