“ Im truly sorry to hear about your lost. Brooke will definitely be missed by so many. One thing that helps me deal or cope with loosing a loved one is the scripture John 5:28,29. It stats " Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life....." Soon we will be able to see Brooke again because God (Jehovah) promises a resurrection hope. Also if you notice that it uses the term "memorial tomb" and not [Grave] which means Gods memory. Brooke seems like a really nice girl, a person that God will definitely remember. I hope this gives some comfort. Dion R (Truth.1914@yahoo.com)

“ words are not enough. you and your family do not know me. But two years ago we lost our 24 year old daughter quickly and tragic. The loss that you feel will never change you just learn to cope. It becomes different. just know that someone understands the fog that you are going through . God is there and we are praying

“ I loved my cousin deeply. As a kid she was a role model to me . I cannot explain the feeling of emptiness i felt since i got the phone call from my mom the day she passed. I cried all that day but i know she is in a better place though i feel she left too early. Time changes everybody but my love for brooky didn't change. I feel bad because i never got to tell brooky i loved her, i hope she knew.

“ Mere words cannot express the depth of loss we feel for you and yours at this time. Our prayers are rising continually for you during this dark hour. May the God of all comfort surround you with His loving arms and sustain you with His Holy Spirit. Our finite minds cannot comprehend all that transpires in this world. But rest assured that God is still on the throne; He knows the end from the beginning. We will miss you Brooke. A life cut short much too soon!
