“ To my dear sweet younger cousin, first son of my Aunt and Uncle: I remember what a talented artist when he was young and how imaginative his stories put in comic strip like panels of his "Action Heroes" were. He was always that guy who wanted to stand out as an exceptional individual and he never seemed to followed the crowd. Other memorable qualities he possessed were Determination and Endurance. Learning and reading did not come easy for Chuck, yet he muddled his way thru the nearby Parochial Grade School and he struggled to complete Public 12th Grade Education. If he took a liking to you, he would choose to impress you with his tenacity and he would not quit a task until it was done. When the both of us were much younger, he came over to help me with some outdoor projects. At the time, I was living in a small house on a huge lot full a trees. The weather turned miserable on that Saturday afternoon, late in October - the temperature dropped 30 degrees and the rain turned into sleet. He was dressed in a light jacket with no gloves. Now other teens might have said, that is it - I'll come back to finish the rest tomorrow, but Chuck hunkered down and finished and my yard looked fabulous! He was always inspired by music. He loved Hard Rock and one of his all time favorite guitarists was Ted Nugent. I wish I could have told him that recently I worked with Richard Lober, the original keyboard player of the Amboy Dukes. He would have liked that. May you rest in peace, Cowboy Chuck. I feel you have joined your beloved Mom, Dorothy, your virtuous step Mom, Chris and your tough but ever gentle, Dad, Jake in heaven. Your trials and tribulations of this world are over and now you are free!
