“ I was a patient of Dr. Meredith's for a few years--my roughest years, in fact, as he helped me out so much through the break-up of my marriage. Because of him, I was able to resume my life on an even keel, so I lost touch with him.

Recently, I have found that I once again wanted to reach out and reconnect with Dr. Meredith, only to find out that he passed away. I had no idea and I was absolutely devastated to read of his passing.

I will never forget him and will always treasure and cherish the times we spent together--he helping me out without my even realizing exactly how much he was doing for me.

I will miss him the rest of my life now that I know he is gone and I hope I can think back on all of the many pieces of advice he gave me that carried me through daily life.

Everyone should know a "Dr. Meredith" in their life and I am forever grateful for his advice and guidance and the many stories of both our lives that we shared so often.

I will always remember you, Dr. Meredith and I can never thank you enough for how much you did for me.

R.I.P, Sir!

“ I just found out that Dr Meredith passed away. This breaks my heart he was a special Dr and helped me so much. Through my bad times he taught me different ways of handling things. He loved his family and the dogs his wife would adopt. Done secretly into the house. He will be greatly missed. RIP Dr Meredith until we meet again. Maybe Casper is with you he really liked you.

“ My brother-in-law, Chuck, was a wonderful family man, and we all loved him very much. He was an incredibly kind and loving soul with a gentle, amazingly complex and sophisticated sense of humor. Chuck devoted his life to working as a successful psychologist and had a beautiful life on the "farm" with my sister Linda. He was a loving and devoted husband to my sister Linda and a supportive stepfather to Kim, and a truly fun "Papa" to Kaya and Ava, Kim's daughters who dearly loved him. Chuck loved his animals and took great care everyday monitoring his flock. He loved our Italian family and really enjoyed getting together with them at all our family events. While Chuck was at U of M Hospital for two months, I called him nearly everyday. He told me he looked forward to my phone calls. Chuck told me how proud he was of Linda and how well she was doing holding everything together at their farm. He knew without him there, she had a huge responsibility for caring and feeding all 65 animals -alpacas, horses, dogs, and even Thumper, the pet rabbit. He also told me how much he loved Linda, and she meant the world to him. Linda never complained about the long list of chores that she had to fulfill that had been previously Chuck's responsibility. Feeding the animals, running to get food for them, taking them to the vet or hospital, and making sure they were all healthy each and every day. She had long days and little rest. She slept almost every night in a lounge chair at the hospital and even kept the same routine at the care facility to make sure Chuck was eating his meals and encouraging him to get better. It was her tremendous love and devotion to Chuck these last few months that sustained her grueling schedule. My sister is indeed a strong-willed and determined woman. Chuck definitely was impressed at her strength of carrying on the home and farm duties. He loved my sister deeply and was proud of how she was handling everything. I know that it will be very difficult for my family and me going forward without Chuck in our lives. Being a man of dignity, he held our tremendous respect. He was a very strong, wise, and positive individual and would always look for the best in any situation and would want us to do the same. Let's remember Chuck for all of his great qualities and appreciate the time we spent with him. His memory lives on within each of us.

“ From the first day that I met my brother in law, I knew he would be my dear friend. I knew I could count on him always. He had time to listen to my problems and my joys for the past 35 years or so. He was a giver. He would always offer me good advice and by his actions, I know he cared about me as a sister in law. As a friend, he was the best. I will always feel blessed he was my brother in law. I will miss you Chuck and so will our family. God speed on your journey with your angel to God's paradise.

“ I had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Meredith at his Grandson's (Robert Folsom's High School Graduation) he came to my house in Tulsa and we all ventured out to dinner, I was struck by the gentleness and kindness of this man, much like his own Daughter (Susan Folsom) and his son (Chuck Meredith), Dr. Meredith and Betty raised two very fine children, I only wish I could have been able to get to know him better. He was much loved and appreciated by his daughter and I know this is a GREAT lose for her as well as the rest of his family.

Dr. Meredith you raised your children well!! May you rest in peace.
