“ Years ago in Port Austin, Mi
Craig dove off a boat peer only to come up holding his head in pain.
Then a salmon floated in the water
Like most guys fishing there had to be a better way .. no pole, no hook but Craig's head Best catch of the season.
Sorry for your loss

“ Craig, I really enjoyed the times we shared fishing for Walleye. Although we'll have to pause our fishing trips together for the moment. You will be fishing for a greater cause. As Jesus said in Matthew 4:19....."Come follow me, and I will make you a fisher of men. God Bless Brother! Jimmie

“ Nothing prepares us for moments like this. Makes all my memories of our first meeting in Caseville, The Letty Charles band rehearsals in the attic on Vaughn, all of the Christmas Eves together more precious than ever. Your family welcomed me with open arms, it's no wonder I referred to Chooch & Dolly as Ma & Pa #2 and I will forever consider a brother.

“ Something you said will always stick with me. One day up north when we were out working on the property you said to me: “You know, I’m proud of you. You are your own man and you don’t care what other people think. I don’t understand all the stuff you are into, but I respect you for being yourself regardless of everyone else.” It meant a lot to me, and I carry that pride every time I am unsure of myself.

“ Craig was like another brother to me and I know there's many who feel the same way. Craig was always my singing buddy. Whenever and wherever I would see him, he'd end up singing something with that smokey silky smooth voice of his. He was so much fun to sing harmonies with you couldn't stay mad at him for very long. Lol. So many great memories from High School, the choir, to the K of C days and throughout life. Love you Craig. Rest well. Gone too soon brother.

So many of my best childhood memories included Uncle Craig aka Uncle Bag of Donuts. A bunch of people crowded in the Redford house watching the Wings play in the Stanley Cup playoffs. Christmas Eve parties. Yelling "GRAB IT" when I would play basketball or baseball. Making the horn sound when the boys' hockey teams scored. Renting the ice rink for all of us one year for a Christmas gift. His big old laugh. And thinking I was 21 for the past 16 years. Plus so many more. 😂 He was so loved by all of us kids and he touched the lives of so many more kids who weren't his own nieces and nephews. He will always be fondly remembered.
