“ Dear Mr. and Mrs. Barron, Laura and Joanne, My prayers and thoughts are with all of you and with Doug. It has been a long time since Doug and I were together but the memories I hold close to my heart. While I was looking through some pictures and momentos I found a paper Doug had written for Psychology class on May 7, 1981. It is about what love meant to him; Love is someone who listens instead of argues Love is someone who is thinking of you, when others are thinking of themselves Love is a strong desire to be with the one you love, to be praised and cared for Love is sacrifice of your own comfort for your lover to respect Love is a person that you can share things with and be close to Love is a person you know you can count on and turn to when in doubt Love is a life's devotions and sometimes a life's sacrifice. I truly believe that Doug lived his life this way and we have lost a wonderful person. A piece of my heart will always belong to Doug and my heart aches for the pain you must feel in the loss of your son and brother. Karen

“ dear johnny, phyllis, & family jeff and i were greatly saddened by the news of doug's death. in recent years i have known many people who have gone through the struggles of fighting cancer. two especially stand tall because they fought with such grace--- the kind of grace that comes from above. one was my mother and the other was your son, doug. as you try to cope with your grief in the days ahead be comforted in the knowledge that the separation is only temporary.

“ My deepest sympathy to all of you. May Doug rest in peace with no more pain and suffering. I am sure that God has greeted Doug with open arms into heaven and he is reunited with his family who have passed before him. I pray that God will comfort you each day. As you look at the night sky it may comfort you to pondering these thoughts shared by a friend ... "Perhaps there are no stars, but openings in the Heaven where the love of our lost ones pours through and shines upon us to let us know they are happy. Believe they are with us forever". May you find peace and comfort in all the wonderful memories of Doug and that he is now watching over you as your guardian angel from heaven. Lots of love, Donna Dowd

“ Receiving notice of Doug's passing was difficult for our entire family. Tim, Dan, Sandy and Greg all knew and were friends with the Barron kids while growing up. We enjoyed them all as they were just terrific people. Doug was a special guy. He was the type of fellow who blended nicely into many different crowds. He was intelligent, friendly, handsome and cordial. (It's no wonder the high school girls liked him so much.) Doug rarely said negative things. To the contrary, he was normally very positive and supportive of his friends. If he became cross over something, it was a very big deal. We will all remember Doug as being the perfect example of how friends should treat friends. The Barron family will remain in our thoughts and in our prayers. Please know that when we remember Doug, we will recall great things.
