“ My thoughts and prayers are with you all.

“ You were the best kind of big brother. Thanks for helping me learn how to tie my shoes, ride a bike, and not throw a ball like a girl. Thanks for staying up with me to watch scary movies (like the War of the Gargantuans!) and always protecting me from anyone who tried to mess with me. I will always miss you. Love, Anne

Anne - May 05, 2012 at 10:15 PM

“ You slipped away the other day, but before the angels took you, you paused to pray.

"I asked the Lord to comfort you and to see you all safely through, and to give you grace for today. For you all know I'm here to stay. I'm in my new home now; can't wait for you to see. Heaven is so beautiful and so full of love for me. So look up, my family, do not weep for me, for I've touched the glory of His majesty, and I am safely in His arms now."

Ed, you will be greatly missed. Until we meet again.

“ I will fondly remember the family get-togethers and hunting and fishing trips where he was always at the center of the pranks and I was often times the target. Especially near and dear to me were the times at Christmas when my Rock'Em Sock'Em robots were broken and my Evel Kneival doll was jumped into the fireplace before I had a chance to play with them. Priceless!!!
