“ Eileen was the most Incredible Grandmother to my boys, I always knew when they were with grandma & grandpa they were well looked after and taken care of & most especially well fed. They loved Grandma's cooking, I found myself asking for recipes to feed the boys after a visit with her however I never mastered dishes the way Grandma made it. The way she would feed little Eric as she liked call him after he was born & Ryan when they were infants she could get them to do & eat foods I couldn't. Grandpa would sit on the floor and play blocks grandma whipping up a meal, the Christmas gift hunts grandpa put on for grandma made the boys giggle, they loved playing hot-cold excited for her to find her gift. The Trips to the Cottage consisting of special alone bonding time with grandparents they will carry for their lives, memories they will forever have & cherish. Thank you Eileen for being the Best Grandma in the world to the Boys. Always Loved Never Forgotten.

“ We can't help but think Denis is complete now that Eileen is with him. She was his anchor from their teen years all the into their "very senior" years. Denis and I were friends since our Boy Scout days which meant that, when Eileen stole his heart, we became a threesome. She wasn't always thrilled about that, let me tell you. Haha. When Charlotte and I got married, we continued the friendship as couples and shared so many good times together. Eileen was perfect for Denis. She was unassuming and unpretentious, and so enjoyable to be around. She loved celebrities and always made us laugh when she would tell a story about "Frank" and it was up to us to figure out that she was referring to Sinatra. She just assumed we would know. Wouldn't anyone? In her final years, especially, Eileen was effusive in her praise of Gary, Patti, Jackie, Erik and Charlie. It was their love and daily administrations that kept her going despite so many setbacks with her illness. She always spoke of them as the greatest blessings in her life. She will be missed. We share in the sorrow of the entire Schulte family. You're in our thoughts and prayers.
