“ I loved this woman with all my heart. She was the most sincere and loving person. She was Mom's (Lois Maynard) very best friend since high school and remained very close to Mom until Mom's passing on November 11, 2013. I have a lot of good memories of Aunt Eleanor. She was proud of her family and loved each and every one. Before Mom's passing, we shared many Sunday lunches together along with Mom, Claire, Sue and myself. She always looked beautiful and impeccable. Aunt Eleanor had the knack of treating everyone special; if you were talking to her she'd nuzzle up next to you and make you feel like you were the only person in that room. I truly believe Aunt Eleanor is with God and all her loved ones who have gone before her. Rest in peace beautiful and loving Aunt Eleanor. You were a great part of my life and will be greatly missed.

“ I love Grandma Brown !! What a sweet, loving, fiesty, dear lady!! Not much got past her. I loved watching her hold babies.. She seemed especially happy holding on to her great grandchildren, but any baby would do. Heaven is surely a sweeter place and her lomliness and suffering here is truly at an end. I know she dearly missed her husband and her friends that had gine on before her. I will miss her hugs and her telling me that I sing like an angel. Well now she knows better, since she is hearing the real ones :-) Can't wait to see you again... Love, Nickie Leinonen....❤️

“ Posted earlier, but wanted to share this:

Gram is gone. Dad said she went peacefully.

I know I'm going to really miss her, she was my last surviving grandparent. That job never seemed too big to her, she had a lot of love to give.

I'm going to miss our little visits, especially when she let herself be a little cheeky and would slip out a cuss word here and there. Grabbing coney dogs with her was one of my favorite "going home traditions." My gram, she gave incredible hugs and made you feel like you were her favorite person to be around. I promised Matt today that I would learn to make her chicken and dumplings recipe. I will never be able to master her hospital corners, because she was a pro and because I prefer my sheets untucked. I will always remember Christmas at her and Grandpa Brown's house...All of the kids, all of their spouses and all of their children; we were such a big crew! I will remember the sticks of Carefree gum that lived atop their refrigerator. The Noah's Ark toy that my Barbie's rode in her bathtub. The toilet seats that were made of that pillowy, plastic cushioning and made those silly fart noises when you sat down on them. I wish I would have paid closer attention to her when she tried to teach me to crochet; we loved talking about crafting. She was always creating, even into her 80's! I will always admire her love for gardening; let me tell you---this woman she would put your green thumb to shame! Her obsession with dollar store still makes me chuckle, and I probably will end up with some sort of cat tchotchke from her house, which is fine by me.

So many memories wrapped up in the last few hours, spinning through my head at full speed. I'm feeling really sad and really happy all at once. Which I imagine is how I will be feeling for awhile yet. <3 I love you Gram, today and always. <3 Love, Amber xo
