“ The last time I saw Eric was years ago when my son DJ and I were invited to a family bowling night. It was such a great time, everyone catching up and I shared stories about the Walker house. So glad we were there to soak up the fun. Time has not dulled the memory of that night with Eric and all the family. This is such an unbelievable loss, sending my condolences with thoughts and prayers for family and friends.

“ Eric my big brother. The oldest of my mom's 7 children. I am #3. How to even begin with memories. He made the best snow walls ever and we all had snow ball fight wars lol He taught me how to play cards all games spades to Rummy. He told stories of our grandfather and living at the "Noonan" house. One of the kindest souls on earth that wished only peace and happiness to everyone in his orbit. It seems so surreal you never think the last time you talk to someone is the last time. We will catch up one day until then hug grandma grandpa and my dad for me. Love you bro ❤️

“ One distinct memory I have, and one my sisters share also, was when Eric took us on a walk through the trails back in Hines Park right at the start of Covid. We were on the hunt for a tire swing I believe (which we never found) but we had a blast. We hadn't been back there before, despite living so close, so we were so excited to have a place to explore. But when we took my grandma Sue with us on the next adventure, and she ended up falling several times and getting us lost, Eric was the first to be blamed lol. Thank you for the memories and I hope to see you again someday. Sending prayers and thoughts to everyone who knew him <3

Eric was truly one of the kindest and sweetest people I've ever known. He cared deeply for his family & I saw this every day in how he treated his sisters. He was definitely what I always thought a big brother was supposed to be.. a protector. He had a way of making you feel special and reminding you not to let anyone tell you otherwise. He will be missed.
