“ I stayed up very late the night before my grandmother passed, praying for the ascension of my grandmother's soul. To walk with the archangels and seraphims and to give up the pain of the world. I looked deeply at the stars and they were shining so brightly. I bought these night vision goggles just to do so. I saw multiple shooting stars that night for the first time in my life in my backyard. Lots of space activity. I slept with the white dress my grandmother had from the village, as a young girl. She grew up in a beautiful huge home outside of Florina, Greece with her two beloved brothers. She came to America late in life, with her three teenage sons and learned English and worked hard, so that I could live the American dream and live the life that I live. I honor her. I honor her sacrifice, her tenacity, her stubbornness, her courage, her constant worry, her determination, her love, her belief in me, her determined sadness when I needed to be lifted out of mine, her anger when I needed to scolded, her vision when she knew better than me. I love you Baba. You did it. You made it. You saw us through. And now- we see you through. You are with the archangels. They told me they have you. How glorious! Xoxoxoxoxo "Keep it up!!!"
