“ I was sorry to hear George passed away. I knew him from Emma's Restaurant renovation. He was a good carpenter, hard worker and take charge guy who reminded me of Burt Reynolds with his mustache and devil-may-care attitude.

Some years later I helped Geoge with his garden. He was an avid gardener and laboriously built islands of shrubs and flowers interlaced with winding paths. Once the garden was completed he would invite friends over to feast and enjoy the garden show.
