“ I used to sub for George during 6th hour when he coached baseball. I watched him teach for the first few minutes before he had to leave. George was an excellent teacher, and held his students attention like no other teacher I've seen. That's quite an accomplishment in itself for high school students during the last hour of the day. George seemed to really enjoy being around people, and he will be missed. May he rest in the peace that he deserves.

“ Worked with George for years at Cherry Hill HS. I will never forget his cooking me a steak, it was delicious. I know he went through a lot, may he rest in peace.

“ As Mary Ann's choir friend, I've met George on several occasions and enjoyed the warm hospitality of their home. I remember George as an excellent baker of delicious pot pies and a gracious, entertaining host. He was very proud of Mary Ann's gardens and watched over her efforts with reminders when it was time for breaks, water, and nourishment.
May he rest in peace, free from the pain and stress of daily life...he will be missed.

“ After one of George's hospitalizations, my grandchildren delivered a meal to George. When my youngest came back from the Speir's he said, "I thought you said Mr. Speir was sick. He sure doesn't ACT sick!" And there you have every memory my husband and I have of George. You would never have known how ill George was because when you were in his home, he was gregarious, welcoming, gracious, and always found a way to make his guests the center of attention. Over the last several years, George has taught us how to accept what seems unacceptable, and with unwavering generosity of spirit has made all his friends and Mary Ann's friends feel comfortable in their home.
My image of George now is that he is at peace and surrounded by friends and family who have passed. He is without pain, whole and healthy, telling his latest jokes, and has already smashed that dreaded electrolarynx into small useless pieces.

“ I was very sorry to hear about George's passing. He was a great guy, and never minded having a bunch of hyper kids running all around his house as we all grew up in the neighborhood. Like my mom said, I will look back fondly on the fishing trips to South Haven with my dad and George. I can't remember a time where he would see me and not greet me with a smile and or a nice conversation. You'll be missed.

“ George has been a big part of our lives since the late 60's. George even stood up in our wedding! George has taught with Roger for many years and then became neighbors, sharing our joys of family and life for the rest. Our children loved George for his wit, humor and as Jonathon would say, fun fishing trips. You will be missed my friend and you will stay strong and alive in our memories.
