“ I am sorry for your loss, death cause such a void. I hope you will find comfort in Jehovahs promise at Revelation 21:4 "And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away". When the former things such as death and sickness pass the void in your life will be filled again..

“ My heartfelt condolences to the family of Helen Marinos. Helen and Jim exemplified the perfect couple in my eyes. The lifelong love they had for eachother kept them both vital into their old age. Their happy smiles and good work contributed to the true spiritual wealth of St George Greek Orthodox church. Knowing that the Marinos family was part of my childhood neighborhood made me feel lucky and safe. I am sending a special blessing for Pam, Chris, and Peter who made my childhood fun and who validated my worth. What a great family. Well, it looks like we are the old folks now - we had great teachers. Our parents had the "right stuff" that made the US the best country on earth. God comfort you through your bereavement. Please drop an email and stay in touch. Your mom used to keep me updated. I will miss her - I will miss them both.

“ Dear family of Helen Marinos, I'm so sorry for your loss. Losing a loved one in death is so difficult to deal with. At first it can be likened to an endless nightmare you hope to awaken from. Your world seemingly stops for awhile. In time the loss becomes easier to cope with. What has helped me is my faith in God's promise of a resurrection to life for some in the heaven, for others on the earth. Please note these scriptures in your Bible- Revelation 21:1-5, Acts 24:15.
