“ Just now found out Dr. Malec died - sad. Way too many memories to list all of them here, but I'll share a few. The fondest memory was of the Neck Back Sacro-Iliac clinic where my mom Ruth took the whole family to get adjusted regularly and where he mentored me when I started my career. Also, Kim, I remember babysitting you, since you lived across the street from us. I miss your mom and your dad. The best to you and your family. Love, Barbara Evans

“ I just found out he died. I met him at biggby coffee where I worked, and He gave me the local news paper that was about him getting his medals stolen. He used to tell me stories about his war days and his whole life story. I still remember a lot of it. I will always cherish those memories. He even brought a cool gun he had and had me come out to his car to see it. He was so nice and everything. Just was going through stuff in my house and found the news article and wanted to look him up and to find him deceased was super sad. Knowing how much he loved his family and how proud of them he was and how many things he accomplished in his life has left me with a lot of peace. Just wanted to let you guys know. Luke Kaufmann
