“ Dad, the holidays are here again, But ours will be quite sad, As we open our many gifts, NONE will be for "Dad". And as the season rolls around, it will also bring to mind The Cristmases we shared together. Those were the dearness and kindness ever. And of those special Christmas the nicest to recall, Is the warm and ever present love that you always shared. Lonely are the hearts you left behind. It's plain to see you always had a special place in our hearts, we think of you in silence, but what it meant to lose you, know one will ever know. Think of you every day... Until we meet again someday. Love me always your honorable #1
