“ I remember Jack in his 20's when my father used to purchase his products from the same location his business is at today. At that time, my Uncle George also worked for Jack as a driver. I used to climb the mountains of aggregate on the lot. My father and Jack respected each other for the many years while my father was alive. Working in the public sector I saw Jack many times up until last year. He was a great man!
My Sympathy to all of the family. How fortunate you were to have him in your lives.

“ My deepest condolences to the family, may God see you through this difficult time.

Oh how I remember the first time I met Jack in 1983 at as he called it (The BB Plant), every other word was a F bomb. As time went on I learned to both love and respect Jack for his spirt and knowledge of life itself. I know in my heart that The BB Plant was one of Jack's pride and joy. I would fine out in later years just how proud Jack was of the BB Plants success. Jack would often stop by to pay us a visit and always would walk in with his usual greeting "what's going on", always a great visit. At times he would bring me his little pet projects like, fixing his favorite Christmas train that no one else seemed to be able to fix for him.

I learned a lot from Jack over the years and he will truly be missed at The BB Plant.

I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Cook in the late eighties and was taken by his successful businesses. However once the man revealed himself the depth of his knowledge was not limited to business. With Jack's academic credentials and GMI teaching experience he could have easily been a professor, or with his aviation skills a commercial pilot or even an architect with his drawing works.

Luckily for the Plymouth community he decided to settle here and create his dynasty on Mill Street which employed many people over the years, and even housed many a stray animal. With his success in our community he raised a beautiful family shared this with his wonderful wife Carman.

I was fortunate enough to get to know this family and have enjoyed watching and participating in their life experiences. Of the several projects I have done for Jack I will always remember him as tough but fair man and always willing to pitch in and do his share and tell me how to do mine .

Rest in peace my friend and take it easy on St. Peter and gate projects you might have for him.

*I remain,

My Uncle Jack! How I will miss him. We did not see one another often, but love and family overcome distance and time.

The first Uncle Jack interaction I remember was on the farm where I grew up in Ohio. He was a teenager visiting his oldest brother, my father. He was trying to fix my doll. It's leg had come off and he put it back together. I thought he was a miracle worker!

As a matter of fact, he did sort of follow that path of creating miracles. I am proud to be his niece and wish I could hug him just one more time!

*With love,
Elizabeth (Cook) Fry*
