“ Im truly sorry to hear about your lost. James will definitely be missed by so many. One thing that helps me deal or cope with loosing a loved one is the scripture John 5:28,29. It stats " Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life....." Soon we will be able to see James again because God (Jehovah) promises a resurrection hope. Also if you notice that it uses the term "memorial tomb" and not [Grave] which means Gods memory. James seems like a really nice guy, a person that God will definitely remember. I hope this gives some comfort. Dion R (Truth.1914@yahoo.com)

“ One of the best things I can say is that I couldn't have been chosen to be "adopted" into a better family!!! I couldn't have had a better dad #2! You made growing up wonderful, and for you to accept me as your daughter and take me on family vacations and treat me like I was part of the family for so many years I couldn't be more grateful! I love you "DAD" and I will ALWAYS miss you and that big bright smile you used to show! I know until we all meet again, you will show everyone up in that big beautiful sky the ropes. I love you and until we meet again!

“ I've only met you a few times for I have only been back here in Mi. a short time . I always heard about Barbs Mom and Dad, Got to meet a few of your family members also. My only regret that I did not get to know you better. But I will say that you and the Mrs. raised a great bunch of kids. And for the Mrs. our thoughts and prayers go out to you and your family.

“ To my daddy, I'll always be your little girl. love you forever and always will. Sitting alone staring into space But all I can see is a memory of your face I still smell you when I sit in your chair I wish you were here but sadly you're gone I'll never forget you though I sometimes wish it didnt hurt You were there with me through everything, the sad, the bad, the good I lie awake for hours staring at the ceiling No one understands the vicious hurt I'm feeling But you would have understood, you knew everything Whenever I needed to talk you were the one I'd ring You meant the world to me, you still do And everything I achieve in life I do it thinking of you after you left me I pretended not to feel a thing But I felt so guilty if I'm happy, smiling, even laughing I feel you now watching me; it gives me warmth like a summer breeze I know you're in no pain now, and I'm glad you're free But I wish i could see you one more time Life without you is driving me insane So I'm sitting here still loving you and glad your no long in pain.
