“ My Nana was a strong woman who I loved and respected greatly. She had a clear and sharp mind, engaging in friendly banter with her quick wit, able to give driving directions to anywhere in the area even though she never drove, knowing exactly what she wanted and doing it no matter who disagreed with her. She cared about people. Always concerned about me and my family's well-being, especially Andrew who was asmathic like her. She always made sure I had Kielbasa when I arrived for a visit. She prayed for me and I prayed for her. We had fun together doing some of her favorite things. Playing bingo, watching game shows, playing poker and other card games, playing dice, doing crossword puzzles and she always let me paint her finger and toe nails. She was the last of her generation. She outlived all her brothers and sisters. She outlived two husbands. She is forever in my heart and one day when I also go to be with Jesus, I will be with her again. Until then, I will miss you Nana.
