No. How could you say that? How would you know about another person's mother and their relationship?? Haven't you seen mommy dearest? Ever heard of child abuse, neglect? Mother's even murder their own children. How would you know what kind of loss if any another person felt? Ever heard of apathy? Mental illnesses? And to be fair some parents just don't give a shit. Not one shit. Remember, if you will please, do not judge yourself or others. You just really never know. And future reference, please keep your thoughts and opinions to yourself especially when it is referring to someone else's grief expression. Read the steps of grief and practice silence.

Rob I'm feeling a loss as well. Someone that I never met. My mother was awful to me. She refused for 16 years to tell me that my Dad, paternal father, was Larry, Lawrence Wasczenski. Ancestry DNA confirmed Wasczenski relationship.

My mother said Larry but idk I was surprised that she'd spoken any truth. 37 years searching, I had the spelling wrong.

I have only ever wanted pictures. Now maybe a story or two and a copy of his family tree. I mean no intrusion.

*If you are willing to assist me in any way
