“ Im truly sorry to hear about your lost. Lonous will definitely be missed by so many. One thing that helps me deal or cope with loosing a loved one is the scripture John 5:28,29. It stats " Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life, those who practiced vile things to a resurrection of judgment." Soon we will be able to see Lonous again because God (Jehovah) promises a resurrection hope. Also if you notice that it uses the term "memorial tomb" and not [Grave] which means Gods memory. Lonous seemed like a really nice guy, a person that God will definitely remember. I hope this gives some comfort. Dion R (Truth.1914@yahoo.com)

“ Grandpa, you helped much more than I think you know in shaping me into the man I am today. Your wisdom, discipline, and morals have helped me grow to excellence as a person and a soldier. From you I have learned to live to be the best person I can. I hope that I continue to make you proud and I know you will be looking down on us all.

“ I love you grandpa and miss you more than you will ever know, I miss sitting in the chairs in your living room talking about religion and politics, looking out the window and you commenting on everyone as they passed by the house. You are one of the most influential figures in my life and I hope I can carry the Underwood name in a way that you would approve. I Love you Grandpa

“ Dad, you were the most principled man I have known in my life. You went above and beyond a father's responsibilities to teach us about life, love, God, and respect. Any short falls we have are our own faults and not of your hand. I am glad you are out of pain, but I miss you terribly. I love you and look forward to the day we will meet again.
