“ Some smiles you will never forget. Some hearts are bigger than others. Not to long ago we were still laughing about sitting on rocks, in a very shallow stream and both falling off from laughing so hard. Marc IS so proud of his kids.(He is watching.) His smile STILL lights up the room. There are so many parts of him we should all carry with us, everyday. His positivity could not be ignored! He could take the darkest of subjects & turn them around. In 2011 I was diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease. He looked a few things up, called me & went over all of the ... hilarious... reasons he agreed I may have always had it...I will always treasure our talks and be blessed with the opportunity of having had such a wonderful friend.

“ Marc was a buddy of mine in high school and we worked together at Taco Bell on main street in Plymouth. Marc was always someone I had great laughs with and he was ready to crush anyone who messed with me at a moments notice. So sorry to hear of his passing, my condolences go out to the Rinke family.

“ I want to personally thank everyone that was able to support my brother’s funeral during the interesting and uncomfortable COVID circumstances. Never forget how much impact you have on others in as much as they may also have on you. Love one another; family, friends, neighbors, everybody that you connect with in life because this you will realize is more important than anything that you may believe will make you superficially happy. It doesn’t matter if you have a $30 watch or a $300 dollar watch, they both tell the same time, and time like people are things you can never get back. Nobody knows when the curtain is going to close, but when the curtain does close, make sure that you have done your best – the best way that only you could. As I reflect on, (as I know I’ll carry the rest of my journey), I think of all the magnificent qualities my brother possessed and try to emulate those into my life. He definitely had a loving and caring heart, bigger than the planet. He was by far one of the best storytellers with a great sense of humor. He lived life the way he wanted to, and he never faulted or judged others. He did however beat the tar out of me when we were younger...I guess I got tough out of it, but I also learned very-very quick that the only way I stand a chance of winning at this brotherly-love battle was to outsmart him, which led to some legendary stories as we grew up and out of our childhood past. Our kids got to enjoy many stories like the “hide and seek” story of when he hid in the dryer and I heard a small noise in my search process which triggered my instinct (he’s in there), so instead of opening the door like a normal kid would have done, I smashed the ON button and laughed uncontrollably as I listened to the massive clanging and yelling coming from that drying machine – nobody to this day can really figure out how he fit in there? That one landed me a paddle and room imprisonment, so obviously, I had to get craftier as time went on. So many stories, so many lives touched, so soon he had to leave us, so sad 😞. My last text message from him – “Hope all is well brother. Love ya” There is no single word to express the emotions left in his wake. I’ll miss you bro, but will see you again – dang.

Love, your little brother, Craig

I am so very sorry for your loss. My intention was to assist at Marc's funeral Mass Friday, but my work commitments got in the way. Please be assured of my prayers for your son's precious soul....and for the journey of grief you and your family are just beginning. “ This is unreal. It’s so accurate seeing everyone call you their big daddy or a brother, because that’s exactly what you were to everyone you loved, a protector. But most importantly, you were MY protector. I never had a doubt in my mind that my dad would be there if I asked him to be. I always gave his number as emergency contact because I knew he would pick up the phone. I walked in his room at four am once holding my stomach in pain and without any hesitation he said “ get in the car”. Drove me to the hospital and sat there for six plus hours in that tiny hospital chair with absolutely no sleep and didn’t complain once. He would do anything for my brother and I. He taught me loyalty, integrity, to stand up for myself, but most importantly he taught me to ALWAYS stand up for other people as well and I have followed well in those footsteps (and have gotten myself into a lot of unnecessary trouble doing so lol). our personalities and moralities are just so similar because I learned from the best. No matter how much he could frustrate my brother and I, there was never any doubt of my dads love for us. Going thru my rebellious teen years, even when I wanted to hate him SO bad I couldn’t help but love him. He always knew how to put a smile on my face when I reallyyyyyy didn’t want to smile and I hated it haha. He just knew how to make anyone laugh no matter the mood. Although I can no longer speak with you daddy I know I now have my forever angel to be there with me through all the difficult times in life, including this time which will probably be one of the hardest things I’ll ever have to deal with. I love you so so much I’m so grateful to be able to say that Marc rinke was my dad.

“ Marc, though our paths went different ways, the love we had was real. I am forever thankful for our two beautiful children and the memories we shared. Such a tragic loss, I share in heartbreak and grief. I mourn with your parents, brother, family and everyone ever touched by you and there are many. Mitchell and Mikaila are the best of what we could ever be and will continue to honor and love you as I know you will be watching over them. Peace, love and light be with you Marc

“ My heartfelt condolences to the Rinke Family, Mikaila and Mitchell, in this time of sudden sorrow. I volunteered at the Saint Sabina festival when Marc was the chairperson, I have never known a person with as generous a soul, so kind and loving. No matter what life threw at him he accepted things with grace and humor. Ever the optimist, he always tried to convince everyone that the Lions would one day win the Super Bowl. He was a true blue kind of guy, and would be the first one to offer kindness and empathy if someone else was hurting. I am so very sorry for your loss. You are all in my thoughts and prayers during this difficult time.

“ What to share??

There is so much I remember about Marc - he lived 2 doors down from me in his younger years & was my son, Wayne's best friend all of his life. There was only about one months difference in their ages.

He was a beautiful baby and a happy-go-lucky kid. He was always respectful and kind to others. At times he almost seemed to be like another son to me. His brother Craig, too!

They both spent a fair amount of time at my house.

It was only after he was an adult that I learned that he had a great singing voice!

My thoughts, love and prayers are with him & his family.

I am so sorry for your loss Ed and Darlene and Mitch and Mikala (not sure if I spelled that right)!

Rest in peace Marc - you will be missed!!

“ When I was 14 years old you came into my life as my sisters new boyfriend. You always got a kick out of me calling you "Mr. Man" at that age. Ever since then you have loved me, looked out for me, driven me to piano lessons and gotten me out of trouble more times than I can count. You are my big brother, you always will be. I can hear you saying "Michelley," "Sis" or "OK Princess" (with total sarcasm) in my head. I hope I never forget that voice. I love you so much. The world is much less bright without you in it. Our hearts are broken, but I have so many wonderful, fun memories of you for the past 28 years of my life. I'm so glad to have known you and loved you and I will always carry you in my heart. I will miss you forever. We will look out for your babies, always.
To the Rinke family, you are in my thoughts and prayers. May god wrap his arms around you super tight.
Rest in peace Mr. Man. I love you.

“What a wonderful man, I was so happy to have met him just over three years ago. We have many memories together, most stem from Canton Bistro. He was my go to friend, I ever needed anything he was there, no questions asked. He was a huge support system to my staff, and to our customers. From goofy nicknames, late nights, early mornings, the vibes Marc shared were the best. “If I fall, will you let me down easy?” Wasn’t so easy. But I’m forever proud to call you a friend, and got to spend time throwing axes, eating yummy food and singing country at the top of our lungs. This isn’t goodbye, just a see you later.
