“ I have so many memories with Mary! The best one that stands out is we had a game that we have been playing for at least 20 years. It's where you have to make the person look at a circle that you make with your hand but they have to look below your knee. We could go a year without seeing each other but within the first few hours we had to try to get the other one first. She started playing it with my brother. He used to send them over the phone to her. This past Christmas. He last we did it. She will be missed and thought of often. She gave me her recipes years ago and I published them for me to remember her. She was the best cook. When you went to visit her up both cuz we moved to Florida she always fed us her homemade food. Forever grateful for her. Love you Mary and thanks for teaching me how to kick cancer ass! Until we meet again!

*Thank you Sandi ♡
You'll have to send me those recipes...I always thought I'd have more time to get them.*
