“ This dude was one of my best friends. I knew him as Redrum and we have played games side by side for many years. He rarely talked about real life, which is why it took me so long to track this page down. We played together the night after he came home from the hospital even, and laughed and joked about his near death experience and how lucky he was. The life changes he was looking forward to making. How wild and weird it all was. I am going to miss our adventures, our trials, our mega builds. We made thousands of hours of grand memories together. GG man.

“ It still seems so unreal. Such a quiet, gentle soul and gone so soon, so young. No words can describe the pain, yet there are so many memories that bring a smile. Until we meet again, Mike, know that you are always loved and deeply missed. RIP dear nephew.

“ Michael was part of our Dragonite family in WoW. He was such a big part of everything and nothing will be the same without him. From fighting the forces of fiery darkness in Molten Core to battling hordes of insects in AQ40, Trytan was always there to help. He was kind, dependable, clever, and funny, and we all miss him terribly. Rest in peace, Trytan. We all love you, my friend.
