“ My mother was my best friend and my whole heart. The one person who I never held back anything from. She was always my confidant and protector. When I was in middle school she taught me that if I was going to get in a fight, fight to win, but first exit school property. That way the school could only hold you for leaving school property. (Lol - smart) reminiscent of my grandfather... a funny story: Johnson & Johnson used to have an ad “1001 uses for baby oil” my mother wrote them a letter requesting all 1001 uses... they stopped that ad campaign almost immediately after receiving the letter. Lol. I miss her more than anything, what a woman. What a mother!
