“ Im truly sorry to hear about your lost. Robert will definitely be missed by so many. One thing that helps me deal or cope with loosing a loved one is the scripture John 5:28,29. It stats " Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life, those who practiced vile things to a resurrection of judgment." Soon we will be able to see Robert again because God (Jehovah) promises a resurrection hope. Also if you notice that it uses the term "memorial tomb" and not [Grave] which means Gods memory. Robert seemed like a really nice guy, a person that God will definitely remember. I hope this gives some comfort. Dion R (Truth.1914@yahoo.com)

“ Wil and I will miss him when he came for Holiday dinners. He would bring his magic bars and homemade breads, which were very good. He had his favorite place sitting in the corner in our diningroom, where he would sit and watch the grandchildren and talk with everyone. He told nice stories of growing up and his family. He fought very hard to overcome his illness with Teresa by his side. He could not have asked for anyone better to watch over him and his care. He once told me that he wouldn't have lived this long if it hadn't been for Teresa looking after him. He was grateful for Teresa's care. While recuperating with one of his bouts of illness he did enjoy staying at Mike and Teresa's home. He loved spoiling Malaki, their dog, with treats. He loved having talks with Mike and all the kids. He did love his family. We will miss him.

“ We remember the first day we meet, it was on a weekend when the land between Mike & Teresa's and ours was dug up to put in a natural underground heating system to their new home. From that meeting of Bob, something just sparked and became alive. Reflecting back, it was the hand of God at work now clearly visible as footprints in the sand. Our life backgrounds were so similar yet so different. We could agree to disagree. But over time, over meals, over Bob's visits to our home we always parted with new insight and options of ways to reflect upon. The last time I (Daniel) got to spend with Bob was in the Test Lab. Our Sept. 2010 evening visit nearly greeted the sunrise the next morning. We both parted knowing this had been something meant to be. I could not help but take note how he had a Christ relationship he may not have shared even with his own children. But it was clearly noted as a light before the dawning sun. We just did not realize just how soon the closing of the chapter would be leaving but memories, thanks, support and vision of what could be. He will be missed, but he really has gone Home to the house of Light.
