“ I miss you every day. Not a day goes by that I don't think about you. It's been 3 years now and the pain is still there as it was 3 years ago. Never goes away, just gets a bit easier with passing time. I lover you Rodney, I miss you like crazy. Until we see each other again brother, you are always in my heart

“ I wasn't going to post anything, but I realized Rodney and I did matter. Our relationship was never meant to be, but the havoc we caused was sure worth sharing/laughing about. I put together only a few quotes below that I am sure all our families could relate to: "You cannot be together, he is 19 and you are 15"-did age really matter? "Another family party, I hope Rodney/Candy is/isn't there..." "Did Candy walk home?" Rodney: "I better go get her"-Little bit of chivalry "The Warden is gonna kill you!" -Sorry Aunt Irene "Yeah, we come to snuff the rooster...." -Rodney, you don't have to "snuff" anything. "I broke another hammer"-Another trip to Sears.... ----This only scratches the surface, but even turmoil can create great memories, I dedicated a song a long time ago for me and Rodney's times when we were together that I would like to share by Little Texas called What Might Have Been. -Good Luck on your journey Rodney. -Candy Little Texas - What Might Have Been lyrics Sure I think about you now and then But it's been a long, long time Well I've got a good life now, I moved on So when you cross my mind I try not to think about what might have been Cause that was then and We have taken different roads We can't go back again There's no use giving in And theres no way to know What might have been We can sit and talk about this all night long And wonder why we didn't last Yes, they might be the best days we will ever know But we'll have to leave them in the past So try not to think about what might have been Cause that was then And we have taken different roads We can't go back again There's no use giving in And there's no way to know What might have been Same old look in your eyes, It's a beautiful night I'm so tempted to stay But too much time has gone by We should just say goodbye And turn and walk away Try not to think about what might have been Cause that was then and we have taken diffeerent roads We can't go back again Tthere's no use giving in And there's no way to know What might have been No we'll never know What might have been.

“ To my old friend, We didn't spend much time together the last few years, and that is something I will regret, but I will never regret the many years that we spent growing up together and finding out about the world. You were and always will be my friend and you will be missed so very much. To your family and friends my prayers are with you all. Your friend, Eric
