“ It's been a year since you left us. You wouldn't believe how different things are without you, how much your loss is felt by everyone. I know you didn't realize how loved and appreciated you were by everyone but I hope you know it now, as you see us trying to go on without you. We love you, always will.

“ I remember high school wrestling, working at UPS, and playing Saga Baseball. I hurt my hand pretty badly and Ron was a good friend to me when that happened. You passed way to young. Time is so slow in the moment but so fast in reflection. I'm proud to say I knew you in our youth and I know you will Rest In Peace.

“ There are no words to say during times of grief. God says we are his children and to him is our return. Your dear beloved son, brother, husband, father and to all the lives he's touched is at peace and with his father God Almighty . Brent & I didn't have the pleasure of meeting Ronnie, but we've gotten to know his sister Lisa & her husband Greg over the last few months. We know through Lisa, the love of family and closeness she shared with her mom and siblings... Just listening to her speak about her family, I know Ronnie was an amazing person full of life and love. He will surely be missed by the lives he's touched. Taking comfort in each other and celebrating his life, will keep his memory alive Our sincerest condolences to the entire family. 🙏

“ I am so saddened to hear that we have lost Ron. He was a great friend and I will certainly be remembering him with a smile! My condolences to his family, you were all such a big part of my teenage years, and hold you all fondly in my memories. Peace and love be with you during this difficult time.

“ My dear brother in-law was so funny!! He loved to share funny videos. He knew all of the cast members by name from every movie and show but I never knew any of them, he'd still tell me all about his favorite parts and favorite cast people anyways. Lol One thing I was surprised about is that I love the movie moulin rouge and never knew anyone else that did except him! Another thing is that in my opinion. he was choosy about who he allowed into his life, the fact that he accepted me when I married his brother always made me feel very special! I do not doubt that I will see him again!! Don't worry Ron! You just enjoy your family and friend reunion and meeting Christ! We will be okay (sad and never the same, but ok) and I'll be here for your Jen, your mom, sister and brothers and Hayley! I love all of you very much! There really is so much more... we will chat about all of the memories for ever around the table at your Mamas.

“ During our young adult years, Ronnie was almost more like an older brother than a cousin. We'd play video games and ride around in the Escort with the chest rattling bass just laughing and cracking jokes...

I know you're up there enjoying a big pot of green beans with Grandma and Grandpa Seal. Til we meet again, love ya.

“ My dear, dear son. I will miss you so much. You're so witty and funny with your quick humor. Oh, the times we've had together as a family! Every day you call me on your way to work, every day you say I love you, to me. You were so proud of the "man cave" and the stereo system, and all the 4K movies and music! The barbecues you'd cook with steak to its perfection. In the recent days before you suddenly left us we noticed a difference in you, showing more happiness and joy and love, The Lord recently touched your heart, and saved your soul, and you are with him now. Your new house is a mansion with a street of gold in front, and the beautiful music is the angels singing now. Through the years you'd always say "It's going to be okay" and I hear you saying that to me now, for God will take care of Jen and I, and supply all of our needs (Phlippians 4:19) We'll all be together again some day. Love, Mom
