“ Ruthie was a quiet but loving cousin who loved animals. She posted pictures of animals on Facebook and we shared this love. I know she was tender and loving with her pets. I will miss her kind words to me several times. Rest in peace, dear Ruthie. ”

“ Mourning Doves

*Mourning doves, they mate for life,
Losing one, leaves one behind.*

*Yet two hearts stay on course as one,
Until reunited, once more as one.*

*In-flight together, toward a setting sun,
Two hearts after all, were always, just one.*

*Kindred spirits seek and find their mates,
And bond, not earth nor heaven can break.*

*Have faith, lest your heart mourn the temporal and brief,
Some bonds...eternal, leave no reason for grief.*

*Know and remember, for the time will come,
You'll find her again, and again... soar as one.*

“ I hope there is a heaven and you are there riding Babe or Gamble.... and in no more pain. We shared so many experiences in growing up in Markle. It's a forever bond and I will always have you in my heart girlie. And, here is to the all the windows we painted together on Halloween. It was so nice to reconnect after all these years and pick right up where we left off.

I do not remember the year of this picture, but this is the Ruthie we knew from Rockcreek and Norwell. She was my best friend. I knew here for over 64 years and we were besties for over 34 years. Ruthie was a wonderfully, kind, considerate, thinking of others before herself and I am, and will always be, so Blessed that God brought us together. If a person had the opportunity to meet her, she would leave a beautiful impression. She was so kind to people less fortunate than her. She loved all animals and gave to many animal charities. I have so much that I could share about Ruthie, but I know everyone that remembers her knew she was a very special, beautiful woman. I will love her and hold her in my heart and soul until we once meet again in the loving hands of God. She promised she would save me a seat. Yes, we were like peas and carrots. See you My Sweet Baby Cowgirl XOXOXO

“ I remember Ruthie as a shy, sweet, beautiful teenage girl that I was never brave enough to ask out. I know Heaven is a little nicer place today with her presence. Blessings to her and all her loved ones.
