“ I worked with Margaret for about 30 years at TVA, which grew into a friendship. We enjoyed taking day trips....mountains, train ride, days on the lakes, and eating Mexican food around Knoxville. Traveled with her several times to KY and Greenville as she was working on her family genealogy. Enjoyed her telling of what she had found about her family, finding small (forgotten) cemeteries way off the road and often in a clump of woods in a hay field. A fond memory is of her trying to find a cemetery in God's country, and getting caught in an electric fence in a cow pasture, each time it would shock her she would yell, we both laughed so much it was hard to get her off of the fence... we were getting the attention of the cows of which she decided she did not like, and had enough of electric fences, she gave me the camera helped me go over the fence through the field to the cemetery and take pictures of all the grave markers so she could pick out the ones she was looking for. Good Times.
