“ Steve, and family my deepest sympathy of the loss of your son. Michelle Baker-Lavin(Tower) "What moves through us is a silence, a quiet sadness, a longing for one more day, one more word, one more touch, we may not understand why you left this earth so soon, or why you left before we were ready to say good-bye, but little by little, we begin to remember not just that you died, but that you lived. And that your life gave us memories too beautiful to forget"

“ Spigs, my borther in arms and my brother in heart. I've shared so many great memories with you, even during the lousy times, that its difficult to be sad brother. Basically every day in the Mortars office BSing about you calling me a Krout and me calling you a Wop. It was great cracking up as everyone wondered what was so funny. I never got you that "I'm not gonna do it" plaque brother. Ha! Here we are laughing again to another great moment. I'll miss you brother but we'll try to keep it Green Street at your services. To his family, my deepest sarrows and condolences. I'll be there for you even ever you need. This is how we Stand Alone . . . Together!

“ Spigs was my Gunner in Ramadi, Iraq and put a lot of heat down on the enemy. He played a large role in why my boys and I are still here. He was a character as well, keeping everyone amused, and usually with a serious look on his face. These things are always painful, But it was a hell of an Honor to be able to share in one of Steve's difining life experiences. The Battlefield is both a place where you can witness pure evil, as well as the most selfless, spiritual acts of sacrifice that can only come from the love for your Brother and Faith in God. Not to mention, proving that you are a real badass and at the top of the foodchain like our brother Spigs. I love you my Hero. I'll try to keep my shit tight so that we can link back up in the big PX.
