“ Wanda and I shared the front pew almost every Sunday at Transfiguration Church during the 12pm mass. She sang every single hymn and always seemed to be the first one to say Amen at the end of every prayer. I delighted in seeing the array of hats she wore. They always matched her outfits. I also used a walker because of hip problems. Wanda encouraged me to have hip replacement surgery. She said I was too young to be using a walker. She prayed for me during both surgeries. She always beat me walking out of church. Before she would leave, she would say “Have a good day “and I would tell her to have a good week. I will miss sharing the front row with you Wanda. But you are now sharing heaven with our Lord. Rest in peace and enjoy your heavenly reward. Thanks for caring. Joan

“ Our mother continued to make plans for living right to the very end of her life. Her body failed before her spirit did. I am so very happy that she did not sit at home, waiting for death to come, but instead went out and lived as fully as possible despite physical limitations. This is a great lesson to us all.

What an honor it was to participate in her care during her final illness along with my brother and sisters. Our family reflected her teachings of love, care and inclusion during that difficult period. We continue to lean on each other during our grief.

On Monday, the 23th, just one day after her 90th birthday, we will gather to lay her to rest. There will certainly be tears, but I am confident we will be supported in our sorrow by the great love of a close knit family.

I meant to type 91st birthday---I guess I'm not functioning at 100% today.

“ Dearest Mother,

May you rest at last in eternal peace. You were a model for us all. Through your example we learned to love fiercely, care for one another, and take from life all the joy it could offer. I miss you terribly already and wish for yet another chance to hold your hand. XO Your loving daughter, Marilyn
